

February 12th, 2021

Technical Program Manager

Qualifications:

- A minimum of 3 years of professional experience and proven results in a technical program management role or similar
- A B.A./B.S. in an engineering discipline like electronics, mechanics, physics
- Experience and knowledge about with optoelectronic components
- Experienced in synchronizing company internal projects with customer needs.
- Skilled at planning and execution of customer related product development programs as part of the overall business plan
- A project management certification is advantageous
- Skilled in collaboration with other team members and teams

Job Description:

- Lead, plan and execute product development programs for specific global customers or markets based on given targets (e.g. schedule, product performance cost)
- Support the strategic marketing plan with program fulfillment, identification of customer prospects and efficient resource utilization in the company
- Manage the direct interface to the customer to understand technical and commercial needs and synchronize those with the running programs
- Collaborate with the team to define the product development roadmap
- Organize, align and focus team members from different departments in Vixar and OSRAM Opto Semiconductors in Regensburg/Germany
- Ensure high quality and timely communication between all stakeholders
- Work in the business development team consisting of project managers and application engineers

Deliverables:

- Systematic conception and planning of projects (e.g. scope definition, risk analysis and mitigations). Clear execution and structured project tracking (e.g. Gantt project timelines, milestones and meetings). Performance and controlling of projects to stay in given budget
- Systematic learning and retrospective of projects to accelerate the company performance